The great popularity of this preparation, after its many years of test should be an assurance even to the most skeptical that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR-RENEWER know that it does all that its claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on held heads—provided the hair-follicles are not dead, which is soldon the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair failing off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

Ing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrogs, and causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL'S HAIR-RENEWER produces its effects or the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and retwenate. It is not a dre, and is a delightful article for toilet nee. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

Jarvis and York in Joint Discussion-York Budly Cornered-Charlotte-Her Industries (From a Staff Correspondent of the Dispatch, CHARLOTTE, N. C., September 20, 1884. North Carolina lumps her elections. They vote this November not only for President and members of Congress, but for Governor and members of the General Assembly. The contest for Governor takes the lead in public interest, particularly as the two candidates, Scales and York, have been canvassing the State together. They were to have met here in discussion to-day but the accident to General Scales, which vis took bis place.

Dr. York, now a member of Congress, is the man who, the people down here say, is trying to Mahoneise North Carolina. He is about fifty, tall and rather spare, and speaks with a great deal of quiet self-con-fidence. He largely discards the personal pronoun I from his vocabulary, and says "Now they tell you that York" did so and so.

and so.

In Hilinois the objection is made agains In Illinois the objection is made against Carter Harrison that he is too fond of using a big I; Dr. York is free from that; he says Yerk nearly every time. Whether from faulty education or desire to make himself better understood by illiterate people I knownet, but he says "heerd" for heard, "Ameriky" for America, "fureners" for foreigners, "Kaintucky" for Kentucky, and so on; and he told how, on a certain occasion, "the Democratic party squandered like a flock of partridges." He said to-day that he never went to school squandered like a flock of partridges." He said to-day that he never went to school "but three sessions in his life, and two of them was to a dirt-dob school-house." For all of that, and inasmuch as he has been a good deal in public life, I fancisd that he was sometimes clinging to homely phraseology to bring himself square down to the level of his work.

York's speech was simply an arraignment of the Democratic party, especially on the tariff and on the Blair school bill, and he charged them with having failed to pass a bill that he (York) introduced to repeal or modify the internal revenue. He charged present hard times for which I see little evidence in the North Carolina towns to the agutation of the tariff. "Why's said he, "the tariff agitation has done it. The banks are flustrated, the manufactories are flustrated," and he thought what was wanted was the triumph of Blaine and Logan. He pictured the horrors that would ensue with this country flooded with pauper laber, and said that under our present Government our people never thought of enigrating to other countries. "I never heerd," said he, "of but about six men emigrating from the United States, and they went to Mexico after the war, and the galhnippers and black knats like to eat them up, and they were mighty glad to get back." [Laughter.] Talking about the Blair bill, York grew eloquent about the value of education and about the poor man, and, asked he, "Suppose war comes, who fights the battles of his country?"

The answer came quick enough from some one in the crowd—"General Scales." [Great cheering ]

It was a complete set-back for York, for TERRORS OF THE TARIFF.

A voice in the crowd: Would you?

The Governor: I certainly would not.
(Laughter and appliance.)

[Laughter and applause.] Governor Jarvis raked up York's legislative record (when York was a Democrat) and proved him more of a demagosme than a true friend of the poor man, for he voted against the building of asylums and the establishment of normal schools. He charged that the present tightness in the money market was due to the fact that $150,000,000 of surplus money was locked up in the United States Treasury. He zaid that it took the Republican senate three months to get the Blair bill through, and Dr. York expected the Democratic House to do in one month what it took the Senate three months to do. The bill, he believed, would pass at the next session; though it that it took the Republican senate three months to get the Blair bill through, and Dr. York expected the Democratic House to do in one month what it took the Senate three months to do. The bill, he believed, would pass at the next session; though it is not a party measure, and both sides are divided on it. Governor Jarvis considered it a huge joke to think that Ike Young, Mott, and Cooper frevenue officers] are in earnest when they say they are for an abolition of internal revenue?

In closing, Governor Jarvis summed up the blessing our people have enjoyed under Democratic administration, among which are the settlement of the State debt, completion of the Western North Carolina raliroad, the establishment of Normal

In closing, Governor Jarvis summed up the blessings our people have enjoyed under Democratic administration, among which are the settlement of the State debt, completion of the Western North Carolina raliroad, the establishment of Normal schools and linsane asylums, the completion of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley road. All these and many other things contributed largely to the prosperity, peace, and happiness of our people. We are all living in an era of prosperity, the Governor said, living under good laws, wisely administered. One special cause for congratulation is the fact that this year the people have no taxes to pay to carry on the State government. This year our people see aomething never before seen since the Declaration of Independence was signed—our State government run for one whole year without drawing a dollar of taxes from the pockets of the people. [This last is possible by reason of the fact that the sale of the Western North Carolina railroad has filled the ern North Carolina railroad has filled the State Treasury.)

BACKED BY TWO PARTIES. York, after leaving the Democrats, started out as a Liberal; he is the candidate of the "Liberals" and also of the Republicans. He never yet has told whether he is a Democrat or Republican, but says substantially that he is "backed by two parties," and he approves Blaine and Logan and their platform.

THE EFFECT.

Governor Jarvisis a man of good appearance on the platform, and speaks well. He never seemed to strain his voice, but Vould distinctly bear him at the distance of a square. York was really no match for him.

I don't suppose Jarvis converted any of the negroes, and I am equally sure that York

This is a preity place and a great business centre. It has about 11,000 inhabitants. It is in a cotton country, and its trade is therefore chiefly in that staple. The business streets are built up in brick, and its homes are among the loveliest Lever saw; many of them cover half-aere lots, shaded by majestic oaks of original growth. There is an air of coolness, quictness, refinement, and substantiality about their residences that makes the city very charming. What is more important to strangers, it has two good hotels; what cannot be said truly of scores of large cities.

HAPPY FOR THIRTEEN YEARS. A Rich and Respected Texas Man Arrested for an Old Murder.

An Austin (Texas) special says: In the spring of 1871 there appeared in Johnson county a new-comer uamed Berry Williams. He was joined soon afterward by his wife and two children, the latter infants. The man seemed to avoid references to his past life, and there appeared to be some mystery as to the place of his previous residence. Williams, however, ived such an upright life that the mystery of his first appearance was soon forzotten, and he came to be ranked as one of the best men in the county. A year later his wife was seized with a fever and cied, leaving Williams alone with his orphans. He made suit to one of the most cultivated young ladies of the county, who, nowithstanding some objections from her family, subsequently became his wife. The wife and chil-dren clung around the knees of the husband and father, and begged though running for the office of Governor, had not said a word about State adjairs; that he had dwelt on national affairs and not once brought under consideration State affairs. An Atchison, Kan., special of Sunday says: A serious fight occurred between citizens of Burr Oak, Jewell county, Kan., and showmen belonging to Miles Orton's circus Friday night, in which one man was killed and several were wounded. The disturbance was raised by a drunken citizen parced Filliat, and a general fight citizen named Elliott, and a general fight occurred. Elliott was arrested, and the circus-men took their property to the train. The crowd followed them, and just as Mayor Marr had res-order a man named Evans peared at the station with a double-barr shot-gun and fired into the train. At moment the train pulled out, and th men fived a volley at the crowd, killing J. Longnecker, mortally wounding Mayor Marr, and slightly wounding a boy. Long-accounts five hundred men were at the sta-tion awaiting developments, while the circus was performing up town. The Burr Oak people demanded the arrest of Orton and his son. The crowd was

THE GRAND JURY

After Thieves and Receivers of Stolen Goods.

The Hustings Court of this city resumed lis session yesterday morning at 11 o'clock—Judge Atkins presiding. There was an unusually large crowd in attendance, and the grand jury had its hauds full, one hundred and sixty-odd indictments being sent in. Of these one hundred and sixteen were returned as true bills, ail of them but four being misdemeanor cases. The felony cases were against Emma Green, J. J. Kelly, J. J. McQuade, and George Toler.

The following is a copy of a paper presented by the grand jury. The Court considered the same, and it was filed in the clerk's office:

clerk's office : To the Honorable Judge of the Husting Court of Richmond: The grand jury of the September term of your court desire to express to you their opinion of a fruitful cause of evil-doing in our city, and one that we desire to see suppressed, and ask from you the necessary instructions to bring such offenders before your court. The offence we refer to is the instructions to bring such offenders before your court. The offence we refer to is the receiving of stoien property.

One case came before your grand jury of a boy twelve years of age stealing a sunt of clothes valued at $20, and selling the same for $1; also, where an honest, working mechanic had his toots stolen, and the same were found in a so-called junkstone, and when the mechanic claimed them the person who had bought them extressed a willingness to surrender any article claimed.

So long as such houses are permitted to be kept open, and thus ald thieves in getting rid of stolen property, we must expect petit thievery; but if the strong hand of the law could be laid on them we are of opinion that this class of evil-doers would in a measure be stopped; and we do most carnestly ask your Honor to give us the necessary power and instructions, so that we may bring such evil-doers before the bar of justice. Another great evil we would also bring to your Honor's attention, and that is the confining of small boys in the city jail, where they are daily and hourly in company with old and expert thieves and evil-doers, who teach them the ways and workings of the profession, and turn them out of jail worse than when committed. We know the construction of the jail, and see no way of correcting this great growing curse than by having another place of confinement for of correcting this great growing curse than by having another place of confinement for toys and girls of tender years. All of which is respectfully submitted. For the grand jury, THOMAS POTTS, Foreman.

"I the Lord do keep it; I will water it every moment; leat any hort it; I will keep it night and day"—Isaiah 27th chapter, 3d verse. The subject was: "God's Love for His Church." Dr. Newton is a man of great power in the pulpit; has a fine presence, clear voice, and graceful gestures, and does not use notes or written sermons. The congregation was large and sermons. The congregation was large and attentive. Bishop Whittle assisted in the cervice, and pronounced the blessing on the new rector and congregation. The night service was in the chapel on Grace street. His morning sermon was based on the Joint texts found in Deuteronomy xxxii.

It. and Matthew xxiii. 37, and was a rich and interesting picture of the two dispensations under which the words were originally spoken.

His discourse in the afternoon, from H. Kings it., II. and Luke xxiv., 51, upon the translation of Elijah and the ascension of our Lord, was greatly enJoyed by all his heavers, while his closing words, unfolding the last message of one of Richmond's distinguished lawyers ere he died, touched every heart intensely.

Mr. Bishop is now pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Kansas City, which is the only church in the place of this denomination connected with the Southern Assembly. His labors in his new field have been greatly blessed, and large additions have been made to his church since his postorate begun, while the outlook for

We were yesterday shown specimens of this fruit from the nurseries of Franklin Davis & Co. The fruit was green and not fully grown, but to a Virginia persimmoneater they looked immense—is oblong in form; one specimen measured seven and a half inches on its smaller circumference and nine inches on its smaller circumference and nine inches on its larger. It is devoid of astringency, and the fiesh is luseious, with a slight apricot-flavor that requires no frost to bring to perfection. This fruit is hardy throughout the cotton-belt, and some varieties are hardy and have fruited as far north as Baltimore. That the Japanese persimmon is not now generally and largely planted is due to the fact that the recollection in the mind of nearly every southerner of the flavor of a green native persimmon is vivid, and his prejudice against the persimmon is mherent. Franklin Davis & Co. will have many specimens of this fruit on exhibition at the State Fair, and have also arranged to send specimens preserved in alcohol to the New Orleans Exposition.

Over $150 in prizes is offered by the New Orleans Exposition to exhibitors of the Japanese persimmon.

Seldiers' Home Benefits.

The performances of the great plays "Dead Heart" and "Called Back," by the Harris Dramatic Company, week of October 13th, under the anspices of the Lee Camp Confederate Veterans for the benefit of the Soldiers' Home, promises to be a great success. It would be well for our citizens to secure seats at an early date. Tickets are for sale at West, Johnston & Co.'s, 911 Main street; Ramos & Moses', 914 Main street; Pizzini's, 807 Broad street; Selnap's, 617 Broad street; Siegel's, 421 Broad street.

of which the score stood 5 to 5. In fact, our boys have shown up well all along their trip, and as they will have two dry-rest here before their first game, they will be in trim for some good work. During the absence of the Virginias the management have made some decided improvements on their grounds, and the grandstand is now more comfortable for the ladies who attend the sport.

The Virginias Lose Their First Game With the Toledos—Score 5 to 2.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

TOLEDO, O.. September 22.—The game between the Virginius and Toledos to-day was witnessed by about twelve hundred people, and did not develop any brilliant or notable points. It was won largely by the good fielding of the Toledos and the poor fielding of their opponents. The Virginias excelled in batting, but their hits were rather disconnected. Among the special features were a fine catch by Olin, and the double plays of Barkley and McSorley, and Miller, Barclay, and McSorley. Dugan pitchea a very fine game, and the Toledos had hard work to make anything off of him. The Virginias struck Mullane hard, but ten of their men got struck out, which rather dampened their ardor towards the last. The following is the full score.

Since Mr. J. Aliston Cabell introduced his resolution in the Council asking for the appointment of paid lamp-likehters for the city, and the relieving of the policemen from the duty of attending to the lamps there has been a good deal of talk about the matter. The committee to whom the resolution was referred will report at the next meeting of the Council, and will recommend, so it was stated yesterday, the adoption of a plan which will give the city paid lamp-lighters. The idea mainly suggested in advocacy of this scheme is that police officers, while nutting out and lighting lamps, disclosed their whereabouts to evil-doers, leaving them free to depredate. The fact of attending to the lamps also gives policemen an excuse when anything occurs on their beat at night and they do not detect it. Then they say, "I was lighting or putting out my lamps," and it is urged in behalf of paid lamp-lighters that the officers will have nothing of this sort to fall back on if the city engages them. The matter will be settled definitely at the October meeting of the Council. the matter. The committee to whom the
